

Emergency power mains switch

Can you imagine life without electricity? We neither. Most of us take electricity for granted but a blackout can happen under certain circumstances.

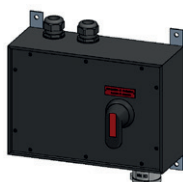

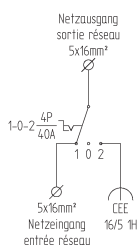

So that you are well prepared in the event of such an interruption, GIFAS has a wide range of solutions for mains-0-emergency power switches in hard rubber housings which can be used to switch easily and safely to the backup power supply.

You can rely on our experience: through competent advice, we will find the right solution for your location and purpose.
